Ryan Simatic has focused his practice on eminent domain since 2011. He has handled multiple jury trials and evidentiary hearings with property damages ranging from $50,000 to $50 million. In addition to being admitted to practice law in six states, he has also been admitted pro hac vice to practice for clients in Alaska, Florida, Indiana, Ohio, South Carolina and Tennessee. He has considerable experience at the appellate level, having argued cases with full or partial success before Minnesota and North Dakota Supreme Courts and Minnesota and Tennessee Courts of Appeals.

In addition to eminent domain cases, Ryan has tried or resolved a wide range of real estate disputes involving easements, boundaries, adverse possession, land use and zoning, property tax valuation and property tax exemptions.

In his spare time, Ryan enjoys playing guitar, his dogs, and travel. He is also a member of the Lions Club.
