Alek Dee is a member of the Business Practice Group, where he focuses his practice on corporate and estate planning matters. He is a thorough and earnest advocate for families and businesses and provides detailed and methodical planning with regard to estate planning, estate administration, succession planning, transactions and real estate. Alek looks to put his clients' wishes first and understands that everyone's circumstances are unique and deserve personalized attention. He is committed to taking the time to listen to his clients' concerns, answer their questions, and give them the information they need to make informed decisions about their future and the future of their loved ones and businesses.

During law school, Alek interned for Justice Ann Walsh Bradley of the Wisconsin Supreme Court and clerked for the Wisconsin Department of Revenue. He also volunteered at the Milwaukee Justice Center, working with their Civil Legal Helpline to connect members of the community to legal resources. He was an active member of the Business and Tax Law Association and Real Estate and Investments Society.

He is a volunteer with Wills for Heroes, a program sponsored by the State Bar of Wisconsin dedicated to providing free legal services for first responders and their families.

Alek is an avid golfer and skier and wishes the weather in Wisconsin would cooperate with these two activities more often. He is on a quest to try every restaurant in Madison, and he is currently torn on being a dog person or a cat person.
